

Consignor Name: _____

Date: _____

Received by: _____

An emailed list of the final items accepted, along with their prices will be sent typically within a week. If there is anything to return, you will have a week to email back with arrangements to pick up.

How it works:

Once we receive your items we will go through and select the items we believe will sell. We will then research and price items based on the current market and email you with the price list.

Items are consigned for a period of approximately 120 days. During the period, monthly price reductions occur. At the end of the consignment period, or if we decide that we will not accept any of your items to sell, you are responsible for picking them up or having them returned to you. Items can also be donated to a local charity and by request we can send you the receipt for the tax deduction.

Pricing & Commission:

Modo Boutique researches and prices your items according to the current market. Below is a table with the payout structure.

Final Sale Price of Item	Consignor Payout
Under $100	40%
$100-$300	50%
Over $300	60%

Payments:

You're always welcome to email, call or come into either store to check on your balance.

- Come into either store to use some or all as store credit (worth 10% more than other payout options)
- Email us with your PayPal email address ($1 fee per transfer)
- Come into either store or email us to request a Paper Check ($1 fee per check issued)

Store Credit can be used immediately after something sells; PayPal & Checks can be issued anytime after our 14 day return period has passed.

Why choose Modo Boutique?

We have over 10 years of experience selling designer clothing, shoes & accessories. Your consigned items will be posted for sale not only in our online store but also at either of our two Portland boutiques. Online, our established and trusted eBay seller ID has over 20 thousand visitors a month.

In person, our attention to detail provides a fun and enjoyable shopping experience for our customers. Giving things a new life in our store and your closet is a simple and effective practice in sustainability! We know there are plenty of people who care about the world as much as they care about their wardrobe, which is why resale is so important to us.
